Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 09/02/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 12, 14, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jang US Patent 6,770,088 B1.

Jang discloses a plurality of different embodiments having catheter/prosthesis assembly (see Fig. 11) comprising a delivery balloon (146), an expandable body (10, see Fig. 9B, 9C & 9D) having a first end (194), a second end (198), a plurality of interconnected cylindrical wall sections (86 & 24) and a plurality of S-shaped connectors (26).

Regarding the S-shaped connectors, the first and second ends of the connectors each emerge laterally from the wall section. Figs. 9B, 9C & 9D clearly disclose the connectors emerging from the lateral surface of each of the cylindrical wall sections. The Examiner interpreted the lateral surface of the cylindrical wall sections as the wall created from the thickness of the stent sections (as shown in Fig. 9D). The independent claims do not have sufficient structural limitations in order to overcome the Examiner's interpretation. In order to overcome the rejection, the Applicant's representative has to add positive structure limitations showing that the two ends of the S-shaped connectors emerge angularly with respect to a longitudinal axis of the stent or the cylindrical wall sections.

NOTE: the Examiner wants to point out that Jang discloses a plurality of embodiment and the embodiment of Fig. 7C discloses a connecting element emerging angularly with respect to the longitudinal axis of the stent.

Regarding claims 12, the s-shaped connectors are capable of providing expansion and contraction. For example, during expansion the s-shaped connectors provide expansion. However, if the stent is in a curved configuration (a C-shaped blood vessel) the S-shaped connectors are capable of providing a contraction. Finally, the S-shaped connectors emerge laterally from the wall section.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed September 02, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant's representative disagree with the Examiner's rejection disclosing that the connector (26) is not an S-shaped element and that the connector of the Jang reference does not emerge laterally from the wall section.
